above referred to, if valid, would undoubtedly be a restriction upon that power. If the people of a state, through their constitution can delay action on an amendment until after one election, there is no reason why they cannot delay it until after two elections, or five elections, or until the lapse of any period of time they may see fit, and thus practically nullify the article of the rederal constitution providing for amendments. I am, therefore, confident that if the Tennessee legislature is called in sension it will have the clear power to ratify the amendment, notwithstanding any provision of the Tennessee constitution."

ROBERTS TO CALL SPECIAL SESSION

NASHVILLE. Tenn. June 14.—Suffrage hopes rallied today when it was learned Gov. Roberts planned to call a special session of the legislature to act on the federal suffrage amendment following receipt of a telegram from President Wilson urging such action in the interests of 'real service to the party and to the nation.

The governor, however, falled to comment on the constitutionality of the legislature's act should a favorable vote on the suffrage amendment be reached, saying that matter was being discussed between State Attorney-General Thompson and department of justice officials at Washington.

Thompson and department of justice officials at Washington.

"It is purely a federal matter and not a state question," the governor said, "and I have nothing to do with that end of it."

The question of constitutionality in the event of ratification would hinge on a clause in the state constitution which provides that any action on a federal amendment must be taken by a legislature, the members of which have been elected after the amendment was submitted to the state. Members of the legislature to be called in special session were elected previous to submission of the suffrage amendment to the states by congress. Some legal the states by congress. Some legal authorities, however, have interpreted the recent decision of the supreme court in the Ohio referendum case as invalidating the clause.

SUFFRAGE LEADERS IN EAST ARE OPTIMISTIC

Tuesday-Forrest park and Market

By W. MARVIN POPE.

(Special Correspondent For the News Scimitar.)

WASHINGTON. June 24. (Spi.)—Suffrage leaders here are elated over President Wilson's telegram to Gov. Roberts and the governor's announced purpose to include ratifications of the Nineteenth: amendment in the legislative call for a special session.

Miss Alice Paul, chairman of National Women's party, says: "I am delighted at this evidence that the Democrats are seeing the opportunity they possess to furnish the final state which will compel ratification of the suffrage amendment and will enfranchise the women of the country."

After an interview with Senator Harding Tuesday, suffrage leaders say they have abandoned hope of assistance from the Republicans in gaining the one state necessary to raification.
